INTRODUCTION

Ind AS 116 – Leases is the most significant change to lease accounting in over 30 years. One of the main reasons of introducing Ind AS 116 was to avoid "Off Balance Sheet Financing" which its predecessor Ind AS 17 was unable to block. Ind AS 116 takes a totally new approach to accounting for leases, called the 'right-of-use' model. This means that if a company has control over, or right to use, an asset they are renting, it is classified as a lease for accounting purposes and, under the new rules, must be recognised on the company's balance sheet.

This no longer allows for significant financial liabilities to be held off-balance sheet, as permitted for certain types of leases (operating leases) under the previous rules.

The objective is to ensure that companies report information for all of their leased assets in a standardised way and bring transparency on companies' leased assets and liabilities.

Since its introduction, this standard has affected most companies reporting under Ind AS and will have a major impact on the financial statements of lessees of property and high-value equipment. Virtually every company uses rentals or leasing as a means to obtain access to assets and will therefore be influenced by Ind AS 116. As with other changes to accounting standards, companies will also need to produce a set of comparative accounts for the prior year. This will increase comparability, but may also affect covenants, credit ratings, borrowing costs and your stakeholders' perception of you.
